HOW TO MAKE SAUERKRAUT

Alexandrian Furnishes Receipt for Preparation of This Edible

It has been suggested during the present week that the surplus supply of cabbage of the present season be converted into sauerkraut. From present indications this produce is liable to become a drug upon the market, and may be offered at 25 cents or less per barrel in the near future. The suggestion that the surplus growth be converted into sauerkraut is timely, and many housekeepers will act upon it. C. R. Yates, President of the Alexandria Coffee Company, brought to this office today the following recipe, which Alexandria housekeepers will doubtless read with interest:

Use hard white cabbage. Take off outside green leaves, split cabbage in half and cut out cores. Slice as you do for table slaw. Pack in clean oak barrel; either a new or second hand, vinegar, pickle or whisky barrel will answer. Put in a layer of slaw about four inches deep and sprinkle with fine salt; then ram with a wooden maul, continuing same process until barrel is filled. Use no water, for if properly rammed it will make its own brine. Store in a cool cellar, putting small oak boards as a press on top and about 50 pound weight on boards. It will take from four to six weeks for kraut to ferment thoroughly. Care should be taken to watch same from day to day to see if brine covers the slaw. If brine gets low in barrel, take three ounces of fine salt to one gallon of water, dissolve salt and pour into barrel. After kraut has finished fermenting, the barrel may be headed up, and is ready for market. A vent should be kept in head of barrel, so that new brine may be added from time to time as may be needed. (See directions above.) Contents necessary for one 50 gallon barrel of kraut: 500 pounds of hard white cabbage, one 50 gallon oak barrel, 5 pounds of fine table salt.

GERMAN WAR COUNCIL.

"Hold Your Lines at Any Cost" Is the Order

London, Aug. 3.—"Hold your lines at any cost!"

This command was given to Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, commanding the German forces in Flanders, when the war council of German military and naval leaders, summoned by the Kaiser, met in Brussels yesterday, said a dispatch from Amsterdam today. The imperial command has already been flashed up and down the German front, and today's dispatches from Flanders told of savage German counter attacks, terrific pounding of British lines by German artillery and hand-to-hand fighting of a ferocity unequaled even in the battles of the Somme.

Throughout last night the region northeast of Ypres was a scene of bloody slaughter. Hurled back in repeated counter-attacks during the day, the Germans renewed the battle at dusk. They came charging out through a sea of mud, stumbling through great shell craters half-filled with water, pushing, fighting desperately on, only to find themselves under the galling fire of British guns

In nearly every instance the charging Teutons were cut down before they were half way to the British lines. In rare cases they ran on to the British trenches, only to be slaughtered by the Scottish troopers, who repulsed one attack after another. At dawn today hundreds of German dead, the gray uniforms coated with mud, lay before the British positions.

PASSING OF HOT WAVE

Weather Bureau Sees Slight Probability of Recurrence of Late Torrid Conditions Hereabouts.

Late yesterday afternoon the mercury in the thermometer began to fall, the heavens in the meantime having become overcast. The wind, however, still blew came from the south, and during the lulls the temperature was far from refreshing. Similar conditions prevailed during the early part of the night, but later the wind veered to the northwest and brought the much-desired relief. The wind continued from that quarter today, rendering conditions pleasant. The Weather Bureau announces that there is but slight probability of a recurrence of the torrid conditions which have prevailed hereabouts during the past week.

The death toll from the hot wave has been high in the larger cities. Sixty-seven additional deaths are reported in New York, while hundreds have been prostrated by the heat. Factories and other places have been forced to shut down during the past few days.

Five persons succumbed to the heat in Washington. While a number of prostrations have occurred in Alexandria, no deaths have resulted from the heat.

Washington papers in noting the increase of crime in the capital city attribute the desperation manifested by certain individuals to the heat wave. In Alexandria there has been virtually nothing doing in the Police Court during the week, and it is suggested that the weather has been too hot for the commission of overt acts. One day this week while the mercury was soaring towards the one hundred mark, several misdemeanor cases were on the docket. All the parties forfeited collateral, it being assumed that it was too hot to stand trial.

FUNERAL OF HENRY K. FIELD

Attended by a Large Concourse of Friends and Prominent Masons

From Virginia and Other States.

The funeral obsequies of the late Henry K. Field, held in the Methodist church South yesterday afternoon, were attended by prominent members of the Masonic fraternity from Maryland and the District of Columbia as well as the state of Virginia. Among them were past grand masters W B. McChesney and J. Alston Cabell, of Virginia; grand master Witten of the District of Columbia; Warren S. Seipp, grand lecturer of Maryland and Geo. F. Houck, also of Maryland. The two last named gentlemen came as representatives of Most Worshipful Thomas J. Shryock, Grand Master of that State.

District Deputy Grand Master Ernest L. Cunningham, of Newport News, had charge of the Masonic ceremonies at the cemetery, acting as grand master, and was assisted by the following named grand lodge officers: Solomon Cutchings, senior warden; Charles H. Callahan, junior warden (protem); Frederick Pleasants, treasurer; Charles A. Nesbitt, secretary; John Myers, deputy secretary; John S. Bottemore, senior deacon; James H. Price, junior deacon; F. M. Penn, P. E. Clift, stewards; J. M. Duncan, persuivant; O. J. Adams, tiler. The Old Dominion Commandery, of this city, was present in a body, the members being in full uniform.

Alexandria Washington and Andrew Jackson Lodges held a joint communication previous to the funeral which they attended, accompanying the grand lodge officers. The services at the church were conducted by the Rev. H. M. Canter, presiding elder of the Washington district, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Duffey, of Rockville, Maryland.

The eulogies pronounced by them over their former parishioner were most fitting and deserved. Among the many beautiful floral tributes were those from the grand lodges of Virginia and Maryland; Andrew Jackson and Alexandria Washington Lodges, the Shrine and Royal Arcanum, besides others from a large number of personal friends of the deceased.

REPULSED BY BRITISH

Impression Prevails in London That Battle Now in Progress in Flanders is Liable to Bring Peace.

London, Aug. 3.—Heavy counter-attacks by the Germans in the region northeast of Ypres, between the Ypres-Roulers Railway and St. Julien, were repulsed by the British forces yesterday, according to the War Office communication this evening. The Germans sustained additional heavy casualties in the fighting.

On the battle now in progress in Flanders depends possible peace. This was the impression which gained ground last night, as from all quarters came reports of important developments which make the new allied drive stand out as the most vital of the war.

Their first objectives attained on the greater part of the front the British and French are now awaiting the clearing of the skies before launching another blow.

The Germans are mobilizing to meet that blow. A great war council presided over by the Kaiser and attended by Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Quartermaster General von Ludendorff, the German crown prince, Crown Prince Ruprecht, of Bavaria, commander of the German armies on the Flanders front; Vice Admiral von Capelle, head of the German admiralty and director of the U-boats, and Grand Duke Albrecht, of Wuerttemburg, in addition to others in high circles, is being held at Brussels behind the German front.

The tremendous importance attached to the battle by the Germans is attested by this hurriedly called conference of the high command. Meanwhile the British and French leaders are plotting the next stroke.

The battle will be decisive. That is agreed upon in all the capitals of Europe. It will result either in the heaviest possible blow to the German submarine warfare by the wiping out of the U-boat bases on the Belgian coast, and if this result is attained a land blow of tremendous proportions as well, or it will confirm the stalemate on the Western front and leave the way open to no other settlement of the war than by negotiation.

The peace talk now being heard in several capitals, notably Vienna, must wait, it is believed here, on the decision in Flanders. Then, whatever result it attained, the time will be ripe for peace.

This will be the case, it is believed, even should the allies carry through their Flanders drive to the most successful of conclusions.

For should such come to pass it will mark the virtual defeat of Germany. It will demonstrate that she is losing grip and, taken in conjunction with the internal developmets which would follow a defeat of her armies, she would be plainly beaten for all the world to see.

The allies go into the battle with two vital advantages, as has been demonstrated from the fighting so far:

They have complete control of the air.

They have preponderance of artillery.

It is to meet these advantages, and if possible offset them; that the German war council last night was puzzling its brains.

In addition to these the allies retain another vital grip which Germany can not loosen and which is slowly strangling her—the control of the sea.

GUN IN OLD TRUNK KILLS.

Son of Ex-Congressman Lenahan Meets Singular Fate.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 3.—Edwin J. Lenahan, aged 30, son of John T. Lenahan, former Congressman and one of the most prominent attorneys of northeastern Pennsylvania, accidentally shot and killed himself at his home here yesterday afternoon.

He was clearing out an old trunk in his room and found a revolver, which was discharged while he was handling it, members of his family say. He died within 20 minutes.

Lenahan was unmarried and was a civil engineer employed by a railroad here.

OWN YOUR HOMES.

The home-owning spirit manifested in Alexandria two-score years ago has long been on the wane, and from present indications there is little likelihood that it will again be in evidence as it was in the early seventies. At that time many men purchased stock in the several building associations which flourished here then, and the younger, after having entered wedlock, began to look around for suitable houses, their object being to purchase the same, the building associations furnishing the money which was paid back monthly with interest. Such associations were mutual, and all who owned stock participated in the dividends. Married men had previously been compelled to pay rent, and after having purchased houses for themselves they paid but a few dollars a year more than they had previously paid in rent. After several years the houses became their property.

A far-seeing business man of Alexandria was sitting in a barber's shop about forty years ago waiting his turn, when he entered into a conversation with an acquaintance. The utility of business associations was being discussed, when the Alexandria financier said, "I know of no institutions which do more good in a community than building associations. They enable people of small means to acquire homes, which makes them better citizens. Having to pay taxes on real estate, they are naturally careful how they vote, and such are not likely to become wild reformers or anarchists or lavish in the expenditure of public money. In short, building associations play an important part in making a good class of citizens."

In this connection a Baltimore paper today called attention to S. W. Straus, president of the American Society for Thrift, who is conducting home-owning campaigns in many American cities.

Statistics show that only about one-half of American heads of families own their own homes.

Mr. Straus truly says that the day a man begins saving money for a home marks the ebginning of a new and finer life for him than he has ever known before. He is saving for the most worthy object possible. The home is the unit of which the nation is constructed. It is the solid foundation on which society rests. It is man's finest token of civilization—it is everything that a man might live for or die for. In the vocabulary of progress, it has no synonym.

Such a movement should be encouraged everywhere, not only in the cities but in the towns and villages of the land.

The young man of moderate means who has just married does the wise thing when he starts to buy a home as soon as his honeymoon worries are over and he settles down to practical life. In very few cases has this young man been able to save enough before his marriage to become a home-owner, so it is up to him to get busy. In the purchase of such a home the young bride will take as deep interest as the groom and as payment after payment is made both will rejoice that they are getting nearer and nearer to the goal of their ambition.

IS PEACE IN SIGHT?

While the most fearful struggle of the war is now in progress in Flanders, the rustle of the wings of the dove of peace seems to arise above the din of conflict. Peace is undoubtedly in the air. More people are talking of peace than at any time during the past three years. Although the Kaiser told his people this week that Germany is invincible, and that the Lord God will surely be with their armies, the fact remains that the British and French on the western front are pushing the Teutonic legions and inflicting terrible slaughter upon the invaders of France and Belgium. This cannot be concealed from the German people nor cast into an eclipse by the Kaiser's puerilities.

It is believed that the result of the great struggle now in progress will be decisive, and that while it may not suddenly bring the war to a close, an armistice is likely to be requested by the Central Powers.

The people of Germany and Austria-Hungary have long been tired of war, and the utterances of the Burgomaster of Berlin, capital of the German empire, published elsewhere in the Gazette, are significant. He boldly asserts that the Germans should be a free people, and not domineered by militarists and bureaucrats.

A writer in a Baltimore paper today published the following suggestive verses which are appropriate at this time:

Peace? Yes, an everlasting peace,
But not a Hohenzollern one,
But one that's franght with good for all,
And kings lost power to enthrall.

Peace? Yes, an all pervading peace,
But not an autocratic one,
But one that safeguards equally
The rights of all—true liberty.

Peace? Yes, a wide, wide world of peace,
That binds together all mankind
In bonds of reciprocity,
One world-wide heart, one wide world mind.

This is the peace we're looking for,
In this, the most blood-thirsty age,
When nations, peoples, tribes and tongues
Are steeped in blood their thirst to assuage.

O Lord, our God, in power and might,
Arise! and bring us peace, we pray;
Dispel this gloomy wartime night,
And bring to us a peaceful day.

WHY GERMANY WANTS PEACE.

Clarence W. Barron, publisher of the Boston News Bureau, declares that from inside information received from confidential German correspondents, he knows Germany wants peace, that another year of war means the destruction of the man power and the industrial position of Germany; that German militarism has killed itself, and can never be revived, and that the United States has the final resources to finance the peace settlement of the whole world, or to fight the battle through.

Among other things Mr. Barron says:

When Germany was preparing for war, she levied a 5 per cent tax upon the capital of the empire. It took three years to collect it. In the three years of war she has expended 30 per cent of her national wealth. If peace were to come to-morrow, Germany would be staggering under a war burden of $25,000,000,000. This is a larger war debt than was ever contemplated or assumed by any nation.

The entry of the United States into the war is most important from a financial standpoint. We have twice the wealth of Germany and Austria combined, and we can assume a war debt passing that of Germany, and not be largely concerned about it so long as our credit is high, which means our interest rate is low.

The big men in Germany see to-day that all Germany has been building for a generation in the trade of the world is not only imperiled, but absolutely lost the moment the United States entered the war.

The men who are responsible for industrial Germany, and who must be looked to to rehabilitate the country after the war, are now clamoring for peace.

The greatest factor is the loss of man power.

Fifty million Europeans have been summoned into the armies of Europe, and 10,000,000 have been slain but the man power of the British empire has not yet been injured, and the man power of 100,000,000 in the United States has been untouched.

The impending peace proposals are caused by the threatened destruction of Germany's man power in the fourth year of the war and the top of her position in marine transportation and in manufacturing and her bankruptcy in finance.

"DOMINATION OR DECLINE"

One of the chapters in General Bernhardi's famous book is entitled "World Domination or Decline." That was the alternative which the General presented to his countrymen. His book was published in 1911 or 1912, soon after the Agadir incident, after the army increase of 1911 and just before that of 1912, which was followed by the vastly larger increase of 1913, designed, as Prince von Buelow and Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg have told us, to reverse the political results of the first Balkan war.

"World Domination or Decline," Bernhardi's book, was published to arouse the German people to that general war upon which his royal master, the General Staff of the army, and the Pan-German element were fully determined. As is suggested by the Philadelphia Record, no one who has read Bernhardi's book needed to be told by Secretary Lansing that the United States is fighting in defense of its own rights and its own future.

Plans of the German General Staff for capturing American cities and holding them to ransom, after the manner pursued in Belgium and Roumania, were published before this war began. Germany has never concealed its contempt for the Monroe Doctrine, and its intention, when the opportune moment should arrive, of paying no attention to it. The covetous eyes of Germany have for years been cast on the Philippines and Samoa, and it has made several efforts to get a naval base that would threaten the Panama Canal.

After what we have learned of Germany in the last three years does anybody imagine that, emerging from a victorious but impoverishing war, it would keep its hands off our wealth? The munitions trade would serve as an excuse for demanding an indemnity. But besides that there would be the fact that we had not gone to war with Great Britain, and Germany knows nothing of neutrals. You've got to fight Germany's battles or be fought by Germany. "World Domination or Decline."

Germany has counted all along on controlling the action of this country through the former Germans now residing here. It has filled our country with its spies. Its Embassy has been the headquarters of plots against our property and our commerce. Treaties do not bind Germany. International law exists only for other nations; it imposes no restraints upon Germany. The German alternative of "World Domination or Decline" applies even more to the Western Hemisphere than to the Eastern.

Decidedly and distinctly, Secretary Lansing is right. We are fighting Germany in Europe to avoid the alternative of fighting her on our own soil.

NORWAY OFFERS SHIPS.

Will Release 1,000,000 Tons for Privilege of Importing Food From U. S.

Norway, facing starvation if the United States cuts off exports of food, is ready to release a million tons of her shipping in return for the privilege of importing food—principally from the United States.

Dr. Fridtjoff Nansen, head of the Norwegian mission to the United States, declared here yesterday unreservedly that Norway faved privation if the United States enforced an export embargo against her.

Dr. Nansen compared possible conditions with those existing during the Napoleonic wars, when the Danish fleet was taken by the English, and Norway was forced to side with France. He did not in any way intimate that Norway would be compelled to abandon her neutrality, but said she would maintain her present position, as Norwegians can see no possible benefit to any one if they should take active sides.

Anxious to maintain their place in the world as a seafaring nation, a common carrier of world commerce and in order to get foodstuffs for themselves and keep their maritime flag afloat, he said, they were willing to barter ships for food.

MILK UP IN WASHINGTON.

Dealers Blame Increased Cost of Production And Delivery.

Washington milk dealers yesterday advanced the price of milk on the gorunds of the increased cost of production and distribution. A shortage of farm and city labor is also given as a reason.

Milk has gone up from 5 to 6 and in some cases to 7 cents a pint. Cream has advanced from 20 to 25 a pint.

District Health Commissioner Woodward was not surprised at the increase. He said he has known for some time of the increased cost of production and distribution.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

According to the Berliner Mittag Zeitung, the finance minister Wednesday declared in the Wuerttemberg Chamber of Deputies that Germany's watchword after the war must be "Export much and import little." The minister added that Germany already had expended 94,000,000,000 marks ($23,500,000,000) on the war and that the interest on this sum, plus war pensions, etc., would be about 7,000,000,000 marks ($1,750,000,000) yearly.

Four persons were killed last night when a Burlington train struck an automobile at West Altona, Ill. The dead are Mrs. Hilda Boquast and her 4-year-old son and Misses Hazel and Edna Larson, of Altona. Mrs. Ray Abernathy and Miss Alice Larson were badly hurt.

The frontier correspondent of the Handelsblad of Amsterdam, reports that the vegetable crop in Germany is a great disappoointment A hurricane on Sunday last did great damage in the whole of western Germany. Many buildings were destroyed, thousands of trees were uprooted, field and garden produce everywhere suffered enormously, cereal crops were beaten down and destroyed and fruit trees were torn up.

Passengers arriving yesterday at an Atlantic port on a French liner reported the vessel was convoyed for two days by hydroplanes operating from a mother ship. On the first day out of French waters a U-boat was sighted, but submerged just as a bomb was dropped at it from the hydroplane.

Charles Fleischmann, son of Julius L. Fleischmann, former mayor of Cincinnati, and heir to many millions, was killed last night when the hydroaeroplane in which he was flying plunged into the waters of Great South Bay near New London, Conn., Harry Witz, an exhibition flyer, and pilot of the machine, also was killed.

U. S. SHIPPING TO RULE WAVES

Mastery of Seas Assured by President's Steel Embargo.

The shipping of the world is to be controlled by the United States during the war. At the end of the conflict, the United States is to emerge as the master of the seas, with the greatest mercantile marine afloat.

Every ounce of steel that might enter into the building of ships will be kept in this country after August 15. The President yesterday issued an order placing an embargo on the export of steel and iron products that will effectually prevent any foreign nation getting supplies from this country for the building up of a merchant marine which might dominate the seas at the close of the war.

It was not denied in high official circles that the steel embargo would prove a severe blow to Japan. Immense quantities of steel have been exported to Japan in recent months for use in shipbuilding.

By preventing the importation of steel for ship construction to all countries, the United States holds the reins of the seas. Munitions and rails may go to our allies, but steel plates and structural shapes are taboo. England and France, two great shipbuilding countries, will suffer along with Japan.

TO TRACK DOWN SLACKERS.

National Security League Urge "Vigilance Committees."

New York, Aug. 3.—The National Security League announced yesterday it had taken steps to promote the formation all over the country of "vigilance committees" to track down slackers under the draft law. The league has asked the heads of the principal defense societies and political organizations in this city to join in the formation of such a committee, and has requested the chairman of each of its 280 branches throughout the country to take similar action.

"The conditions created by the extensive demand for exemption in the examinations under the draft law constitute a national menace," reads a letter to the chairman, "and require that patriotic and defense bodies undertake immediate steps to render futile the efforts to wrongfully evade national service, and to do such acts to remedy these conditions as will meet the approval of the Federal authorities. This is a serious matter, which requires determined action at once.

"We must impress upon the public that the slacker is not only a coward, a cheat and evading national service, but that he is imperilling national honor in a war for national existence, and that he is endeavoring to impose upon the men numerically below him in the draft the duty which he should perform."

SHOT BY JEALOUS MEN

One is Dead; Other in Critical Condition.

Two jealous men shot two women in Baltimore yesterday. One of the women is dead; another is in a critical condition in a hospital. One of the men fired three bullets into his own chest. The other was arrested without resistance.

The dead woman was Mrs. Catherine Mitchell, keeper of a boarding house at 708-12 West Lexington street. Her slayer was George Davis, a bartender. After killing her he turned the revolver on himself. He is now dangerously wounded in the University Hospital. The other woman who was shot was Mrs. Viola Leatherwood, 12 North Bradford street. She was shot by her husband, Ormond Leatherwood, after a quarrel which had lasted all night. She is in St. Joseph's Hospital. She has four wounds in the abdomen and chest and the physicians say her chances for recovery are very slender. Her husband is under arrest in the Northeastern Police Station.

PATROLMAN KILLS CHIEF

Seriously Wounds Secretary And Captain—Thought to be Insane.

New Orleans, Aug. 3.—James W. Reynolds, superintendent of the New Orleans Police Department, was shot and almost instantly killed as he sat in a chair in his office yesterday by Terrence Mullen, a patrolman. Captain of Police Gerry Mullen, who was in the superintendent's office at the time, received two bullet wounds in the chest.

George Vandervoort, secretary to the superintendent, who sought to enter the room when the shooting began, received a bullet wound in the head. Both he and Captain Mullen are in a critical condition.

Patrolman Mullen was shot in the hand and captured by the police officials as he was trying to escape.

The authorities expressed the opinion that he had become suddenly insane. Several years ago, it was stated, he was treated for a mental trouble.

ELKS PLEDGE WILSON AID

Also Cable Similar Promise to General Pershing.

Washington, Aug. 3.—President Wilson was assured yesterday of the co-operation of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks by the order's war relief commission headed by former Gov. John K. Tener, of Pennsylvania; Grand Exalted Ruler Frederick Harper and other prominent Elks. The President was also informed that $1,000,000 had been voted for base hospitals and aid for injured.

The commission conferred with Chairman Davison of the Red Cross War Council.

A cablegram was sent to Major-General Pershing, an honorary member of the order, advising him the Elks were willing to do anything possible to aid him and his troopers.

ARMY AVIATOR KILLED.

Companion Badly Injured When Machine Drops 800 Feet.

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Capt. Ralph L. Taylor, in command of the training section of the Aviation Signal Corps here, lost control of his airplane yesterday and plunged 800 feet to his death.

Sergt. Thomas Pell, who was in the machine with him, suffered a broken jaw and internal injuries.

The two aviators had been flying but a short time when it was noticed that something apparently went wrong with the machine and it dropped toward the earth. Captain Taylor was dead when taken from the wreckage.

Captain Taylor had been in command of the instructors and students aobut two months and was an expert flyer. He was married two months ago. His home was in Stamford, Conn.

Unable to Tie up the Iron Mines in Michigan.

Ironwood, Mich., Aug. 3.—All indications yesterday were that Industrial Workers of the World have failed in their attempt to tie up the iron mines in Michigan. The Colby and Ironton mines are the only properties where they have succeeded in inducing any men to walk out, and operators reiterate the belief that the 350 who went out there will return to work the first of next week.

Col. Roy C. Vandercook, of the constabulary force, is planning to scatter his men along the iron range within a few days, believing that a small number of the troopers will be able to handle the situation at Bessemer.

TO PUT CANADA ON RATIONS.

Two Meatless And Two Baconless Days a Week Urged.

Ottawa, Ontario, Aug. 3.—Canada is to be put on rations and there is to be a penalty if orders are not obeyed.

W. J. Hanna, Food Controller of Canada, has made recommendations to the Minister of Justice that the people of Canada shall be required to observe two meatless days a week and two baconless days a week. Every caterer in Canada who serves daily 25 meals must supply bread that is other than pure wheat bread.

The Government, he says, must fix the penalties.

Governor Stuart to Appoint Representatives of Government for Each Division.

Richmond, Aug. 3.—Heavy exemption claims from all sections of Virginia resulted yesterday in Governor Henry C. Stuart receiving instructions from Washington immediately to appoint in each registration district a repreesntative to press all government appeals before the district boards. At the same time, the Governor ordered the two district boards to meet here at a date to be named later for the purpose of formulating uniform rules of procedure in all cases coming before them.

The Governor will, as soon as practicable, name the government representatives for each of the 114 divisions in the state. This representative will be impowered to take any case settled by a local board to the district board of review, and to present evidence to disprove any exemption or finding of a local board. To make the appointments will require several days, as the qualifications of eligibles must be carefully considered.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Registered persons who ignore summons from local boards to report for examination under the draft law are storing up grave trouble for themselves. A supplement to the regulations issued by the President yesterday makes this apparent.

Upon failure to report or refusal to submit to examination, the name of the person concerned will be forwarded to the proper authorities. The person will be notified that he is regarded as physically fit and held for ignoring notice to proceed to the mobilization point, he is liable to punishment as a deserter, which in war time may be death.

VIRGINIA PHYSICIANS LISTED

Census Taken by Medical Section of Defense Council.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 3.—The medical section of the State Council of Defense has practically completed the work of taking a census of all the physicians in Virginia. The object of the census was to determine which doctors should volunteer for the military service and which should not. One point to be considered is the health conditions and proportion of doctors to population in the community where each physician lives and works, and the other is the obligation on the doctor himself, whether married, size of family and other considerations.

Virginia will be asked to send a proportion of the doctors needed for the first million soldiers that will total from 200 to 300. The medical section of the council is about ready to say who in its opinion should go. A little more tabulation is necessary before this will be actually done

This State has already contributed approximately 180 physicians to various branches of the service and this number will be credited to the quota asked from Virginia. With others who have volunteered for the Medical Reserve since the last figures were compiled a few days ago, it is believed that Virginia has already contributed 200 more.

"LET US BE A FREE PEOPLE."

Significant Words of Burgomaster of Berlin—Wants Parliament That Has Power.

Amsterdam, Aug. 3.—Burgomaster Reicke, of Berlin, hits out with remarkable bluntness in passing judgment on the internal situation of Germany in an article in Monday's Berliner Zeitung am Mittag, which has just reached here. Replying to a question as to whether Germany after three years of war was able to register gains internally as well as externally Berlin's chief magistrate said:

'The answer is but a hesitating affirmative. We seem to have become a nation of profiteering hucksters. Those who are not corrupted by the Mammon chase are haunted with a fear lest, after all, the country is slipping back into the rut of officialdom. * * * We still are kept in leading strings; we are not really a free people. * * *

"We call for the benefit of the counsels of a dozen workingmen, but the word is quietly passed from the government table: 'These fellows cannot be told all. Just treat them like children.'

"What is wanted is a parliament that has power, not a mere legislative machine, and a government of men who are not educated to believe that a bureaucrat necessarily knows better than an ordinary mortal. Let us be a free people, but not merely free on paper."

NEWLYWEDS NOT EXEMPT.

General Crowder Directs Boards to Disregard Marriage After Call for Examination.

Washington, Aug. 3.—Local boards were formally instructed by Provost Marshal General Crowder last night that they may well hold that a marriage recently consummated, especially by a a registrant after he has been called for examination, does not create a status of dependency justifying immunity from conscription.

"The selective service law," read the instructions, "does not require discharges in all cases of technical legal dependency, but only permits discharges where in view of dependency a discharge is advisable. Local boards may well hold that a marriage hastily consummated recently and especially one consummated by a person after he has been called to present himself for examination to determine his fitness for military service, does not create a status of dependency in which it is advisable to grant a discharge.

"It is to be expected that local boards will exercise this full discretion in cases where they are convinced that unscrupulous persons have thus violated the principles of the selective service law in hope of escaping a duty."

TREASON IN IOWA TOWNS

Four Arrests Follow Near Riot in Lowden.

Lowden, Iowa, Aug. 3.—Four persons, three of them past 60 years, were arrested by federal officers yesterday and charged with treason and resisting the government. Half a dozen others were questioned, and it was announced more arrests were expected. This action followed an outbreak that approached a riot between citizens and pro-Germans last night.

United States Marshal Moore and Deputy Healy arrived here from Cedar Rapids, after they had been informed that this town of 700 population was a hotbed of sedition.

The trouble began early in July, and it was said to have been accentuated by the dragging of a German flag behind an automobile in the Fourth of July parade. Feeling between the loyal and pro-German elements has increased since then, fanned by public and private utterances.

Tuesday night Rev. John Reichert, pastor of the German Evangelical Church here, was arrested on a charge of treason. News of the minister's arrest spread and a crowd gathered before an attorney's office where the pastor was being questioned, threatening to lynch him. A few blows were struck, but cool heads finally prevailed.
